Jason has been leading chambers of commerce for more than a decade, both from within as an executive in a number of chambers and from without as a consultant with YGM. Having worked with both small and large chambers, Jason has a knowledge base that easily translates into moving groups of volunteers into innovative approaches to fundraising. Jason has completed the US Chamber's Institute of Organization Management (IOM) and is working toward his master's degree in non-profit administration and management.

Jason joined YGM in 2012 and became CEO after he purchased the company in mid-2015.
