ABOUT MACON-BIBB COUNTY, GEORGIA

Macon, officially Macon-Bibb County, is a consolidated city-county in the heart of Georgia. It lies near the geographic center, about eighty-five miles southeast of Atlanta and 2.5 hours to Savannah. Located near the fall line of the Ocmulgee River, Macon had a 2020 population of 157,346. It is the principal city of the Macon metropolitan statistical area (MSA), which had a population of 233,802. Macon is served by three interstate highways: I-16 (connecting the city to Savannah and coastal Georgia), I-75 (connecting the city with Atlanta to the north and Valdosta to the south), and I-475 (a city bypass highway).

There is something for everyone in Macon. Home to multiple higher education institutions including Mercer University, Middle Georgia State University, and Central Georgia Technical College, the city is steeped in history, especially its rich musical heritage. Downtown Macon has much to offer – historic architecture, loft living, outdoor recreation and a distinctive mix of dining and entertainment venues.
